FACULTY

Noma Anderson, PhD, is the Dean of the College of Nursing and Health Sciences at the University of Vermont. She served as Special Advisor to the University of Tennessee (UT) System President on Diversity and Inclusion. Anderson was Dean at the UT Health Science Center and Florida International University, Department Chair at Howard University, and taught at Hampton University. She earned her BA from Hampton University, MS from Emerson College, and PhD from University of Pittsburgh. As a speech-language pathologist, the focus of her scholarship is advocating for cultural and linguistic diversity, fostering cultural competence, and addressing health and educational inequity.

She served as 2007 ASHA President and 1998-2000 ASHA Vice President for Academic Affairs. She was Deputy Director of the National Black Association for Speech-Language and Hearing (NBASLH) and Secretary of the Council of Academic Programs in Communication Sciences and Disorders (CAPCSD). She was awarded ASHA Fellow in 1992, ASHA Honors in 2015, and NSSLHA Honors in 1999. She received the Scholar/Mentor Award from NBASLH in 2002, a Diversity Incentive Award from CAPCSD in 2002, the Harvard University Foundation Medallion for Multicultural Education in 2007.

In 2009, she received the Distinguished Alumni Award from the University of Pittsburgh African American Alumni Council. In 2010, she was selected for the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders (Howard University) Wall of Fame. In 2016, she received the Legacy Laureate Award from the University of Pittsburgh. She serves on the Board of Visitors of the School of Health and Rehabilitation Sciences at the University of Pittsburgh.

Financial Disclosures

- Dean of the College of Nursing and Health Sciences at the University of Vermont
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation

Nonfinancial Disclosures

- ASHA SIG 14 affiliate
- Member of National Black Association of Speech-Language and Hearing