DISCLOSURES

Barriers to Follow-Up in Early Hearing Detection and Intervention Programs
Andrea D. Warner-Czyz
Department of Speech, Language, and Hearing, The University of Texas at Dallas
Callier Center for Communication Disorders
Dallas, TX

Sarah Crow
Department of Speech, Language, and Hearing, The University of Texas at Dallas
Callier Center for Communication Disorders
Dallas, TX

Andrea Gohmert
Department of Speech, Language, and Hearing, The University of Texas at Dallas
Callier Center for Communication Disorders
Dallas, TX

Stephanie Williams
Department of Speech, Language, and Hearing, The University of Texas at Dallas
Callier Center for Communication Disorders
Dallas, TX

Michael Romero
Department of Speech, Language, and Hearing, The University of Texas at Dallas
Callier Center for Communication Disorders
Dallas, TX

Disclosures
Financial: Andrea D. Warner-Czyz, Sarah Crow, Andrea Gohmert, Stephanie Williams, and Michael Romero have reported no financial relationships to the content of this article.
Nonfinancial: Andrea D. Warner-Czyz, Sarah Crow, Andrea Gohmert, Stephanie Williams, and Michael Romero have reported no nonfinancial relationships to the content of this article.

Living in the Void Between Hearing Health Care Encounters: Evaluation of the Barriers Families Face
Blair C. Richlin
School of Rehabilitation and Communication Sciences, Idaho State University
Meridian, ID
Department of Otolaryngology, Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary
Boston, MA

Kristina M. Blaiser
School of Rehabilitation and Communication Sciences, Idaho State University
Meridian, ID

Matthew Bush
Department of Otolaryngology, University of Kentucky Medical Center
Advancing Clinical Decision Making Through Trauma-Informed Care in Pediatric Hearing Health Care
Brittney J. Sprouse
Department of Audiology, The University of Chicago Medicine
Chicago, IL

Disclosures
Financial: Brittney J. Sprouse has reported no financial relationships to the content of this article.
Nonfinancial: Brittney J. Sprouse has reported no nonfinancial relationships to the content of this article.