Lauren S. Enders, MA, CCC-SLP, is an Augmentative and Alternative Communication (AAC) and Assistive Technology (AT) Consultant, working for the Bucks County Intermediate Unit (IU) in Eastern Pennsylvania. In her role on the Bucks County IU Assistive Technology Team, Enders supports special educators, speech-language pathologists, other related service providers, and paraprofessionals who provide services to school-age students (ages 5–21) across 13 school districts. Enders presents on topics related to AAC, AT, language, and emergent literacy at national and international conferences as well as smaller conferences, webinars, and podcasts. She has had articles published in The ASHA Leader, USSAAC Speak Up Blog, and Closing the Gap Solutions Magazine, and has been featured on the Praacticalaac blog. Enders is well-known in the AAC community for regularly creating and sharing resources on her professional social media accounts, including Facebook, Pinterest, Twitter, and Instagram.

Financial Disclosures:

- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation
- Salary from the Bucks County Intermediate Unit (BCIU)

Nonfinancial Disclosures:

- ASHA member
- Affiliate of ASHA SIG 12
- Member of the International Society for Augmentative and Alternative Communication (ISAAC)
- Member of the United States Society for Augmentative and Alternative Communication (USSAAC)