FACULTY

Wendy Jennejahn, MS, CCC-SLP, has been a speech-language pathologist at the Kennedy Krieger Institute (KKI) for 21 years. She currently manages a diverse Outpatient Speech-Language Clinic, serving children of all ages with a variety of neuro-developmental disabilities. She mentors and supervises certified speech-language pathologists and clinical fellows to perform comprehensive evaluations and functional treatment sessions, including the child’s oral motor and feeding skills. Since 2003, Wendy has been a member of the interdisciplinary Pediatric Behavioral Feeding and Swallowing Program at KKI, where she provided feeding therapy as part of the intensive programs for more than 5 years. Among other roles, Wendy evaluates children with a variety of feeding difficulties through the interdisciplinary feeding clinic to determine a patient’s candidacy for an intensive feeding program. She also provides outpatient treatment as part of the continuum of care, where she involves the caregivers and trains them to complete a home program to foster more advanced oral motor skills in their child. Wendy enjoys sharing her knowledge to empower parents as well as to promote other SLPs’ comfort addressing pediatric feeding and swallowing disorders. Outside of work, she enjoys gardening and walking her two Shiba Inus.

Financial Disclosures
- Employee of Kennedy Krieger Institute
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation

Nonfinancial Disclosures
- ASHA member