FACULTY

Verna Chinen, MS, CCC-SLP, is an Educational Specialist with the Hawaii Department of Education. She has statewide responsibilities for evaluation and eligibility for special education, related services of speech-language pathology, occupational and physical therapy, and preschool special education services. As a speech-language pathologist with over 40 years of experience with the Hawaii Department of Education, Chinen’s areas of interest include evidence-based practices as it pertains to the identification of students with speech and language disorders and the connections between language and literacy. She is currently the president of the State Education Agency Communication Disabilities Council (SEACDC) and volunteers for ASHA on the Committee of Ambassadors. In 2019, Chinen received the Louis M. DiCarlo award for Recent Clinical Achievement.

Financial Disclosures:

- Employee of the Hawaii Department of Education
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation

Nonfinancial Disclosures:

- Member of ASHA Committee of Ambassadors
- Current president of the State Education Agencies Communication Disabilities Council (SEACDC)