FACULTY

Kelly Farquharson, PhD, CCC-SLP, is an associate professor in the School of Communication Science & Disorders at Florida State University. Previously, she was an SLP and assistant professor and director of the Children Literacy and Speech Sound Lab at Emerson College in Boston, MA. Her research interests include school-age children with phonological and language disorders; the effect of those disorders on the acquisition of literacy skills; and the cognitive, environmental, and academic factors that contribute to phonological and language disorders. Prior to pursuing a research degree, she was a school-based SLP in Pennsylvania.

Financial Disclosures
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation

Nonfinancial Disclosures
- No nonfinancial relationships to the content of this presentation