FACULTY

Catherine Cronin Carotta, EdD, CCC-SLP, is the associate director of the Center for Childhood Deafness at Boys Town National Research Hospital. She is a speech-language pathologist with many years of experience in the assessment and education of children who are deaf or hard of hearing, using sign and spoken language modalities. Carotta has worked in public/private school settings, hospitals, and university-based clinical programs. With a doctorate in leadership education, she works to create learning organizations using current leadership models. She is actively involved in providing consultation nationally to organizations regarding leadership, team development, multidisciplinary assessment, best practices in early childhood education, and school-age services for students who are deaf or hard of hearing.

Financial Disclosures:

- Salary from Boys Town National Research Hospital and consultant fees, which are paid directly to Boys Town National Research Hospital
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation paid directly to Boys Town National Research Hospital

Nonfinancial Disclosures:

- No nonfinancial relationships to the content of this presentation