FACULTY

Lillian Stiegler, PhD, CCC-SLP, is a professor of Communication Sciences & Disorders at Southeastern Louisiana University. Her interest in the communication of individuals with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) has lasted over 30 years. She teaches a graduate course on ASD that includes a mini-camp for local children with autism. She is a community advocate for students with autism and consults with families and professionals in her region. Stiegler has written and presented about numerous ASD-related topics throughout her career.

Financial Disclosures
- Employee of Southeastern Louisiana University
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation

Nonfinancial Disclosures
- None