FACULTY

Brenda K. Gorman, PhD, CCC-SLP, completed her master’s and doctoral degrees with a multicultural/bilingual specialization in Communication Sciences and Disorders at The University of Texas at Austin. Prior to entering academia, she worked as a bilingual (Spanish-English) speech-language pathologist, serving diverse caseloads for public school districts, early intervention agencies, and private clinics. Gorman has an extensive background in working with dual-language learners and providing professional development to professionals who serve diverse populations. She co-founded Bilinguistics Speech and Language Services in Austin, Texas, and has served as Advisory Clinical Director of LinguaHealth and Grupo Lingua. Gorman has conducted research, published, and presented on topics related to speech, language, and literacy development and disorders as well as assessment and intervention for bilingual populations. She is currently a professor and chair of Communication Sciences and Disorders, where she also directs the graduate program’s Multicultural and Multilingual Emphasis.
