Person-Centered Assessment for People With Dementia

INTRODUCTION

Person-centered, client-directed evaluations for individuals with dementia lead to personalized, functional intervention goals that permit the individuals to participate in meaningful activities. This course—which is broken into six 5-minute blocks—will guide SLPs through conducting a person-centered assessment. The presenter will discuss two sample frameworks and case studies for this type of assessment and then take you through a step-by-step template for conducting a person-centered assessment, including giving you time to practice and reflect.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

You will be able to:
- conduct a person-centered, client-directed assessment for people with dementia to yield functional, life participation goals
- integrate commonly used functional standardized tests/subtests into person-centered assessment for reimbursement purposes

CONTENTS

Introduction to Concept ................................................................. 5 min.
Review Examples .................................................................................. 5 min.
Create a Quick Plan .............................................................................. 5 min.
Try Your Plan ................................................................................. 5 min.
Reflect on Your Plan ........................................................................... 5 min.
Learning Assessment ........................................................................... 5 min.

PROGRAM HISTORY and IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Original program date: May 31, 2019
End date: May 31, 2024

To earn continuing education credit, you must complete and submit the learning assessment on or before May 31, 2024.

To see if this program has been renewed after this date, please search by title in ASHA’s online store at www.asha.org/shop.
This course is offered for 0.05 ASHA CEUs (Intermediate level, Professional area).