

FACULTY

Charles Ellis, Jr., PhD, CCC-SLP, ASHA Fellow, is a Professor in the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders at East Carolina University (ECU). Ellis received his Bachelor of Science and Master's degrees from The University of Georgia in Athens, and his Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Florida in Gainesville. Ellis' academic concentration focuses on adult neurogenic disorders, and he teaches courses related to aphasia and cognitive disorders. He leads the Communication Equity and Outcomes Laboratory, where his research is designed to understand outcomes associated with adult neurologically based disorders of communication and factors that contribute to the lack of equity in service provision and outcome disparities that exist among African Americans and other underrepresented minority groups. Ellis has authored or co-authored more than 110 peer-reviewed journal articles and three book chapters and has more than 150 presentations to his credit, related to Parkinson's disease, stroke, traumatic brain injury, and health disparities and minority health issues. Ellis is the Editor of the Journal of the National Black Association of Speech-Language and Hearing. He was awarded the ASHA Certificate of Recognition for Special Contribution in Multicultural Affairs in 2011, and in 2014 he was awarded Fellowship of ASHA.
