

FACULTY

Samuel L. Bradley, Jr., DSW, has joined the Boston College School of Social Work (BCSSW) as Assistant Professor of Macro Practice, focused on equity, justice, and inclusion. He is an accomplished musician, community activist, and administrator with extensive experience in fundraising and communications. Bradley has expertise in diversity and inclusion, public health, and program innovation. He is particularly passionate about utilizing design thinking as a strategy for developing innovation in higher education as well as leveraging higher education programs to support community outcomes in marginalized communities. Bradley is proud to have served as a member of the board for the Music and Culture Coalition of New Orleans, an organization dedicated to supporting and empowering the culture bearers of New Orleans. Prior to joining BCSSW, Bradley was Chair of the Forum for Equality, Louisiana's Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender human rights organization dedicated to creating a society free from discrimination. Bradley has achieved the status of Fellow for Life with the Albert Schweitzer Fellowship.

Financial Disclosures

- Complimentary ASHA Learning Pass subscription from ASHA for this presentation
- Facilitator with Full Circle Strategies
- Assistant Professor with Boston College

Nonfinancial Disclosures

- Glass Leadership Institute Fellow with the Anti-Defamation League

Nicholas Stanley, AuD, PhD, CCC-A, is an assistant professor of audiology at Illinois State University. His research primarily focuses on using auditory event-related potentials to analyze age-related differences in speech understanding in complex listening environments. However, more recently he has been collaborating with Dr. Samuel Bradley, a social worker, on diversity, equity, and inclusion within communication sciences and disorders in both academic programs and clinical practice.

Financial Disclosures

- Complimentary ASHA Learning Pass subscription from ASHA for this presentation
- ASHA member and ASHA SIG 6 affiliate

Nonfinancial Disclosures

- None