FACULTY

Corey Herd Cassidy, PhD, CCC-SLP, is a professor in the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders, the Associate Dean of the Waldron College of Health and Human Services, and the Director of the Center for Interprofessional Education and Practice at Radford University. Cassidy teaches courses and conducts research in the areas of early language development and disorders, efficacy of caregiver and childcare provider training, the relationship between music therapy and speech-language intervention with young children, and interprofessional education and practice in health care and human services. She is the author of the chapter entitled “Service Delivery Issues in Early Intervention” in the fourth (2012) and fifth (2019) editions of the textbook, Professional Issues in Speech-Language Pathology and Audiology. Cassidy is a licensed speech-language pathologist with more than 20 years of experience providing services in the early intervention and early childhood arenas.

Financial Disclosures
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation
- Employee of Radford University

Nonfinancial Disclosures
- Author of a textbook chapter that loosely relates to the content presented in the webinar

Cynthia Core, PhD, CCC-SLP, is an associate professor of Speech, Language and Hearing Sciences at the George Washington University. Her research focuses on speech and language development in bilingual children, children with cochlear implants, and children with speech and language disabilities. She is a licensed SLP and Early Intervention Provider.

Financial Disclosures
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation
- Employee of George Washington University

Nonfinancial Disclosures
- None