
Tele-Ethics: Principles To Inform Ethical Telepractice

INTRODUCTION

As illustrated by the challenges caused by the COVID-19 pandemic, telepractice (also known as telespeech, teleaudiology, and telehealth) is revolutionizing clinical care. This webinar will describe how ethical principles can inform and inspire exemplary telepractice that serves to improve the quality of life for individuals with communication disorders. The presenter will share clinical scenarios that present the fundamentals of telepractice, with a focus on the guiding principles in the ASHA Code of Ethics. The webinar will discuss lawful practice, ethical communication, and upholding client well-being.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

You will be able to:

- determine when state licensure is required to engage in ethical and lawful telepractice
- list elements of transparent ethical communication that should occur before a clinical relationship begins
- identify aspects of privacy, security, and safety to ethically protect the well-being of clients when engaging in telepractice
