

FACULTY

---

Gail M. Whitelaw, PhD, is a clinical associate professor in the AuD program and the director of the Speech-Language-Hearing Clinic at The Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio. Her areas of clinical interest are tinnitus, auditory perception in children and adults, educational audiology, and working with people with hearing deficits (those with functional auditory complaints). Whitelaw is a preceptor for second and third year AuD students and also sees patients at the OSU Speech-Language-Hearing Clinic. She serves as the audiology faculty member on the Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental and Other Disabilities (LEND) grant at the Nisonger Center at Ohio State. Whitelaw has earned the Pediatric Audiology Specialty Certification and has both the CH-AP and CH-TM. Whitelaw was honored with the 2019 Outstanding Educator by the American Academy of Audiology (AAA).

Financial Disclosures

- Employed by The Ohio State University
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation

Nonfinancial Disclosures

- AAA Advocacy Chair
- APSO Board Member
- ACAE Board Member