

FACULTY

Nickola Wolf Nelson, PhD, CCC-SLP, BCS-CL, is Professor Emerita (retired) at Western Michigan University. Nelson continues to conduct research on language and literacy connections, working with teachers in classrooms on written language. She is first author of the Test of Integrated Language and Literacy Skills (TILLS; 2016) and other books and articles on language and literacy assessment and intervention. She was Editor-in-Chief of Topics in Language Disorders 2005-2018. Nelson is an ASHA Fellow and received the Kleffner Clinical Career Award and Honors of ASHA. She now lives in Wichita, Kansas, with her husband Steve Nave.

Financial Disclosures:

- Royalties from Brookes Publishing for sales of the Test of Integrated Language and Literacy Skills (TILLS) and the Student Language Scale (SLS), which are used to provide examples for this presentation
- Some content in the presentation was developed with support of a research grant from the Institute of Education Sciences and multiple training grants from the Office of Special Education Programs of the U.S. Department of Education, but the ideas presented are those of the author and are not endorsed by the U.S. government
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation

Nonfinancial Disclosures:

- None