DISCLOSURES

Proposing a Multisystem Swallowing Framework: A Network Medicine Approach in the Era of COVID-19
Veronica H. Letawsky
School of Audiology and Speech Sciences, The University of British Columbia
Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

Ann-Marie Schreiber
School of Audiology and Speech Sciences, The University of British Columbia
Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

Camilla Dawson
School of Audiology and Speech Sciences, The University of British Columbia
Vancouver, Canada

Department of Speech and Language Therapy, University Hospitals Birmingham NHS Foundation Trust
Birmingham, United Kingdom

Geoff Fullerton
School of Audiology and Speech Sciences, The University of British Columbia
Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

Robyn C. Jones
School of Audiology and Speech Sciences, The University of British Columbia
Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

Karyn Newton
School of Audiology and Speech Sciences, The University of British Columbia
Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

Niki Oveisi
Faculty of Pharmaceutical Sciences, The University of British Columbia
Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

Tahira Tejpar
School of Audiology and Speech Sciences, The University of British Columbia
Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

Stacey A. Skoretz
School of Audiology and Speech Sciences, The University of British Columbia
Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

Department of Critical Care Medicine, University of Alberta
Alberta, Edmonton, Canada

Centre for Heart Lung Innovation, St. Paul’s Hospital, Providence Health Care
Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada
Disclosures
Financial: Veronica H. Letawsky, Ann-Marie Schreiber, Camilla Dawson, Geoff Fullerton, Robyn C. Jones, Karyn Newton, Niki Oveisi, Tahira Tejpar, and Stacey A. Skoretz have reported no financial relationships to the content of this article.
Nonfinancial: Veronica H. Letawsky, Ann-Marie Schreiber, Camilla Dawson, Geoff Fullerton, Robyn C. Jones, Karyn Newton, Niki Oveisi, Tahira Tejpar, and Stacey A. Skoretz have reported no nonfinancial relationships to the content of this article.

Feeding Skill and Behavior Changes in Children With Complex Feeding Disorders Following Therapy in an Intensive Multidisciplinary Feeding Program
Hema Desai
Department of Rehabilitation, CHOC Children’s Hospital
Orange, CA

Sarah Lauridson
Department of Rehabilitation, CHOC Children’s Hospital
Orange, CA

Michelle Nguyen
Department of Rehabilitation, CHOC Children’s Hospital
Orange, CA

Elisa Ornelas
CHOC Research Institute, CHOC Children’s Hospital
Orange, CA

John Schomberg
Department of Trauma, Nursing Administration, CHOC Children’s Hospital
Orange, CA

Disclosures
Financial: Hema Desai, Sarah Lauridson, Michelle Nguyen, Elisa Ornelas, and John Schomberg have reported no financial relationships to the content of this article.
Nonfinancial: Hema Desai, Sarah Lauridson, Michelle Nguyen, Elisa Ornelas, and John Schomberg have reported no nonfinancial relationships to the content of this article.

Dysphagia and Methamphetamine Use: Considerations for Speech-Language Pathologists
Lauren G. Faust
Acute Rehabilitation Services, University of Utah Hospital
Salt Lake City, UT

Disclosures
Financial: Lauren G. Faust has reported no financial relationships to the content of this article.
Nonfinancial: Lauren G. Faust has reported no nonfinancial relationships to the content of this article.
Speech-Language Pathology’s Role in Management of Orofacial Contractures After a Facial Burn
Lori Ann Arguello
The University of Texas Medical Branch
Galveston, TX

Kathleen M. Kerr
The University of Texas Medical Branch
Galveston, TX

Disclosures
Financial: Lori Ann Arguello and Kathleen M. Kerr have reported no financial relationships to the content of this article.
Nonfinancial: Lori Ann Arguello and Kathleen M. Kerr have reported no nonfinancial relationships to the content of this article.